In this night there was a hanted tree called the ghost-eyed tree.

It stood on the hill blending in to the pitch black night.

As it got colder the wind <sup>swade</sup> started <sup>as it</sup> to howl. The buzzards, <sup>stared</sup> started

<sup>as they are</sup> to eat. The crows <sup>flew in as they</sup> started to gather <sup>in</sup> around of the moon

leaving not even a trace of light. <sup>As</sup> the sun came ~~up~~ they ghost-eyed trees ~~gradually~~ disappeared in the sun light.

most of it self-corrected—
only minor end punct/cap corrections from me.
